from ASRT

The American Society of Radiologic Technologists (ASRT) has convenient online CE courses that will help meet the specific requirements for digital and fluoroscopy continuing education credits. Through a partnership with the ASRT, you can get up to 10 CE credits paid for through the Ben Hudnall Memorial Trust per year. You do not have to be an ASRT member to take advantage of this opportunity. To get started, simply visit the ASRT Store and search for the courses under Digital and Fluoroscopy.

It Worked for Me: SADIA IMRAN, CCRN, MHA

NCAL Nurse Shows How Learning is a Life-Long Process

Current Position: Assistant Department Manager, Northern California
Her Goal: To continue her pursuit of life-long learning
How KP Helped: BHMT made it simple to go back to school through the use of the Stipend Program

Sadia Imran has always had a strong motivation and desire to challenge herself and approach healthcare-related issues from multiple perspectives since she began her career with Kaiser in April 2008. "I love to keep educating myself, and I strongly believe that as healthcare professionals become more educated, we become more effective leaders."

She was interested in obtaining her Master's in Health Administration (MHA) after working as a Specialty Unit Staff RN in the PACU department at the Irvine Medical Center, and the program required on-campus attendance, extensive coursework, and research.

"As an adult learner, the stress of balancing work, family life, and being a university student can be overwhelming, but fortunately, the Ben Hudnall Memorial Trust truly assists employees in reaching their career goals at Kaiser Permanente!"

Sadia utilized the Stipend Program and believes that it is "a great program which promotes and supports the leadership, education, and professional development of the KP employees. By utilizing this valuable resource, I was able to devote focused time towards my education."

In August 2015, Sadia received her Master's in Health Administration with a GPA of 3.97. She was also elected as a member of Alpha Chi (National College Honor Scholarship Society) due to her exceptional academic achievements.

"My degree will definitely help me apply my professional expertise, medical knowledge, and clinical skills as I lead and mentor the next generation of healthcare professionals. Thise whole experience has been so rewarding that I am now planning to continue my education and pursue my Ph.D. in Healthcare Administration."

Congratulations, Sadia!

2016 Kaiser Permanente Complex Journeys in Health Conference

The Complex Journeys in Health conference, formally known as the Geriatric and Palliative Care Conference has been set for Friday & Saturday, October 28-29, 2016 at the Hotel Nikko in San Francisco, California. This conference is sponsored by Kaiser Permanente's Care Management Institute (CMI) and promises to educate, illuminate, and engage front-line providers who care for our most vulnerable members. This year, our focus expands to include complex care models, the continuum, social needs, and integrated behavioral health in addition to geriatrics and palliative care. The conference promises to provide clinical knowledge and skill building, practical information on care delivery tactics and approaches, and ways to improve communication with patients, their caregivers, and families. In addition to (24) breakout sessions and (4)four plenary sessions over the course of two days, CMI and the Institute for Health Policy will co-host an evening event on Friday, October 29, 2016. Please mark your calendars now and plan to join your colleagues across Kaiser Permanente to participate in the Complex Journeys in Health Conference.

For more information, visit the conference wiki site.
