NEW! Introducing the Tuition Assistance Program

The Ben Hudnall Memorial Trust is proud to announce the launch of our NEW Tuition Assistance Program (TAP). TAP allows you to access your KP Tuition Reimbursement (TR) benefit with NO money out of pocket. Please note: This is not an additional $3,000, but if you are approved, it is an opportunity for you to pre-pay for course materials and/or tuition costs. BHMT will pay upfront for any approved reimbursement applications (except travel) submitted through KP's TR system.

TAP Benefits:

- Payments are made directly to your academic provider on your behalf, or
- Directly to you at the time proof of payment is submitted versus after course completion.

TAP into your KP TR benefit today!

'It Worked for Me': Jennifer Cline

CO Cytotechnologist Shows What Happens When Passion Meets Training

Current Position: Cytotechnologist CT, MLT (ASCP), Stapleton Support Services, Colorado

Her Goal: To take the skills learned from project management and utilize them to help teams increase their level of performance

How BHMT Helped: BHMT made it simple to go back to school and learn new skills through the use of the Project Management Program at UC Berkeley

Jennifer Cline has worked for Kaiser Permanente for 13 years. Most of that time she has spent in the Cytology department, but recently, she served for two-and-a-half years as the Colorado region's Workplace Safety Liaison and worked with teams on improving safety initiatives. "Safety is something I am passionate about, so being able to impact this area was particularly

Ready to further her career even more, Jennifer was excited to learn about the Project Management Program at UC Berkeley through the Ben Hudnall Memorial Trust. "Since project management was already a part of my career plan, my vision was to use the skills learned through the program to educate, enable, and inspire teams to reach their goals across the organization."

Starting the Project Management Program in 2014, Jennifer found that the Project Leadership and Building High-Performing Teams course was her favorite. "The Project Leadership course was the most challenging and rewarding class I've taken in the program due to my passion for working with teams."

With assistance from Bridget Hurley, an improvement advisor in Colorado, Jennifer developed safety training for unit-based teams. This helped the Colorado region exceed their 2015 PSP safety goal of over 200 safety projects recorded in the UBT Tracker. This training was so successful that other regions have adopted it to train their team on safety as well.

Jennifer's final project as a Workplace Safety Liaison was to recruit health and safety champions for each of the unit-based teams in the Colorado region. "I partnered with J.J. Cassa, program manager of unit-based teams for the Colorado region, and the UBT consultants in order to accomplish this goal. Using some of the tools I learned in the Project Management Program, we were able to reach 80% recruitment rate of health and safety champions by the first week of 2016. This exceeded every other region although the Northwest quickly caught up. By the end of September 2015, 94% of the teams that worked on safety either maintained or elevated their level of performance. I think this demonstrates that teams that care about each other's safety are among the top performers." Through this project, she utilized planning and networking, and as a result has developed very strong partnerships throughout the other regions.

Jennifer is planning on completing the Project Management Program by the end of this year and will be taking the PMP exam in 2017. "I am looking forward to seeing how this program enhances my career as well as other participants' careers throughout the organization. Additionally, I would love to create a community around the BHMT project management program."

Congratulations, Jennifer!

If you're completing a certification program or going back to school this fall, it's normal to feel some anxiety when it comes to taking tests or completing papers and projects. However, sometimes, that anxiety impacts test performance and can even affect your sleep. If you'd like to learn some tips and techniques, please join me for a webinar on "Overcoming Test Anxiety" where I will be talking about how this anxiety affects your physiology and inhibits cognitive functioning. Presented by Dee Holl, BHMT Career Counselor, CO Region

3 Tips for Career Development

As a KP employee, Lotus Notes and emailing is used on a regular basis, and sometimes when things get busy at the office, we tend to forget how to keep it professional.

Here are 3 tips to remember when sending out

- Use proper grammar and always spell check. Not sure how to check in Lotus Notes? Go to Tools up top on the toolbar and select Spell Check.
- Turn Caps Lock off because your message will read as if you are shouting.
- The subject of the email is used to catch your reader's attention, so keep it short and sweet!
