'It Worked for Me': Kristina Bailey

GA Staff Nurse Shows How Persistence Can Inspire Those Around Us

Current Position: Staff Nurse, Alpharetta Medical Center, Georgia

Her Goal: To go on to complete her BSN-to-MSN

How BHMT Helped: BHMT helped through the use of the RN-to-BSN Program and Continuing Education Units from CE Direct

Kristina Bailey started working at Kaiser two and a half years ago, and as a Staff Nurse, she was interested in utilizing her employee benefits. Once she heard about the RN-to-BSN Program offered through the Ben Hudnall Memorial Trust, she knew she had to take advantage.

"I was very excited to receive more information on the program. It was like winning a jackpot!"

Kristina began her academic journey with CTU to complete her prerequisites courses, starting off with Statistics. "I highly recommend CTU." Once she completed her necessary courses, she researched through the pre-selected colleges for the RN-to-BSN Program. "It was a hard choice to make," she says, but she eventually decided to register at Regis University. After receiving a student discount on top of the $19,100-lifetime maximum benefit from BHMT to be used on Stipend time and/or tuition payments, Kristina found the program to be very "affordable."

Receiving straight A's in all of her classes, Regis has decided to showcase a few of Kristina's papers as an example of exemplary student work. While doing so well in school, she is also taking what she is learning and applying it to her role at KP. She has learned skills, developed ideas, and is now pulling relevant and current research for patients. "I am able to stay up-to-date on everything." Kristina is also a participant of CE Direct to maintain her Continuing Education Units.

"It has been excellent. I have used it to get my Nursing CE requirements without any added cost. I can also go on there and find specific subjects that directly pertain to my patients or to learn more about other subjects that interest me to expand my knowledge. The only problem is there is so many to choose from and not enough time to do all I would like."

Kristina is now halfway through the program and is already thinking about her next steps. "Leadership/management is my focus, so I plan to pursue my MSN once I graduate." She believes that "education is key."

BHMT Career Counselor Darlene Martin has helped guide Kristina along the way. "Darlene Martin is very supportive," she says, but Kristina's family has also been by her side every step of the way, making it even more imperative for her to reach her academic goals. Her husband was diagnosed two years ago with metastatic prostate cancer at the age of 47. "He is holding strong and is a huge inspiration to me," she says, "Without the help of the Trust and my family, I would have never been able to do it. Going through this program has been such a great experience."

With a deep passion for life-long learning and continuing to advance her career, Kristina makes it a point now to encourage others to take advantage of all that BHMT has to offer

"These programs are not for just nurses. They are for everyone," she says, "If I can encourage just one person to go back to school and pursue their career dreams, I will be happy."

Congratulations, Kristina!

Online Language Training with AmEnglish

The English Proficiency Program with AM English provides an online training program for non-native speakers of English, which can improve communication skills at the high-beginning through advanced levels. AM English has been awarded top honors for their programs by the Educational Testing Service (ETS), maker of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL®) tests. 3 Tips for Career Development

As an employee, what do you need from your manager to be successful? Have you ever thought about it? Did you know that by engaging with your manager, you can receive thoughtful and constructive feedback on your performance as well as the support to help you pursue your career development goals?

Here are 3 tips on how to start the conversation:

- Proactively engage your manager in a discussion about your career goals. Invite their input and support for developing you—their valued employee.
- Volunteer for challenging projects and assignments that will improve the quality of work-life in your department. One of the best ways to advance your career is to identify an organizational problem and propose a solution. By offering to implement the solution, you will not only increase your visibility as a problem-solver, but you will also expand your skills in the process.
- Create an organizational career path. Are you reaping the benefits of a thoughtfully developed, written, manager-supported career plan? Career pathing is an essential component of your life-long career management.
